

Mud Pie Asks Global Sourcing Partners to Secure N95 Masks for Local Healthcare Workers

Stone Mountain, Georgia – (March 26, 2020) - What is the perfect gift for a doctor or nurse? This week, the most wished-for gift is protective gear. So that is exactly what Mud Pie founder and CEO Marcia Miller is giving them.

Miller is trying to help during these unprecedented times. “We have so many friends in healthcare who are on the front lines fighting this horrible virus,” she said. Their biggest concern has been access to protective gear. We wanted to help them in whatever possible.”

Miller’s gift company sources products all over the globe. Now that their partners in China are back at work, they were able to secure N95 masks that could quickly be distributed here at home.

“Doing nothing is not an option,” said Miller. “We appreciate all of the hardworking doctors and nurses out there. This is one small way that we can support them.”
